International Summer School

From June 5 to July 26 of 2019

Open enrollment

International Summer School

The International Summer School of the Law School at Universidad de los Andes offers a unique opportunity, in Colombia and throughout the region, to take intensive courses with prestigious professors from around the world, ensuring the highest standards in terms of experience and sophistication. In 2019, we are offering 21 courses: 7 to be taught in English and 14 in Spanish. The courses cover a broad variety of topics, some very specific, with theoretical or practical emphasis, and other with interdisciplinary approaches. All courses meet the highest academic standards.

For undergraduate law students at Universidad de los Andes, all the courses count as electives. Additionally, the law school recognizes 9 of the courses as credits for the compulsory undergraduate curriculum.

For students enrolled in different programs at the Universidad de los Andes, and for students from other universities, the Law School will give you an attendance certificate and the University grades report.

If you wish to take any of our courses and do not require academic equivalency, you can register through the Department for Continued Education. The University will grant you a certificate of attendance as long as you attend at least 85% of the total number of sessions. For more information, you can contact us at +57 (1) 3324363, or write to us at educacion.continuada@uniandes.edu.co

Join us between June 5 and July 26, 2019 to have an extraordinary academic experience that will allow you to meet professors and students from the best universities in the world. Don't miss it!
